Subject: [Georgetown-Seattle] South Park Bridge Funding

CFTR: 05/10/10

Dear elected officials,

Regarding budgeting for Seattle: many worthy projects are being funded by our city. One glaring exception is the South Park bridge. It is a vital connection to get emergency services and business patrons to that community, and severing it will kneecap South Parks recent growth as an up and coming neighborhood. The community has worked hard. They are an example of the bootstrapping that we so often hear about, yet rarely see. The fact that beautification and convenience-motivated infrastructure projects are being funded all over Seattle while an entire neighborhood is being left to wilt is simply unethical. Further, the placement of repair priorities in wealthier neighborhoods lends validity to resentment and distrust of our elected officials. Whether you are personally deserving of that resentment or not, please take a moment to consider whether this would ever have come to pass in wealthier neighborhoods. Please consider the newly funded, non-critical, non-safety oriented roadwork in the downtown/Belltown area, and think about your obligations as representatives of all the people of Seattle, not just the influential people.

Fixing/replacing the bridge is the most important thing, but I understand it will take time. In the interim you can help the situation by making this difficult time as easy as possible. At the meeting last Tuesday with KCDOT, one opinion voiced by many was that the disruption of the bus service to South Park and Georgetown adds insult to this injury. We are already underserved by Metro down here. I urge you to not only prevent the cuts in service that are planned, but also to add service to this neighborhood. We pay our taxes. Please give us our share of services.
